Miss your horse like mad when you go on holiday? Take him with you! Whether it's cheap 'n' cheerful camping, glamping, or full-on luxury you're after, there's something for everyone below

1. Camp Katur, Kirklington, Yorkshire

If you fancy a spot of 'glamping,' Camp Katur is the place for you. Nestled amongst the trees in this beautiful 300 acre estate you'll find an eclectic choice of wigwams, hobbit pods, safari tents and 'unidomes' to sleep in, plus an equestrian centre offering short term livery, as well as expert tuition, a floodlit arena, a full set of BSJA show jumps and a 1.5 mile cross country course. You can also have a go at water-zorbing, go-karting, Segways and more – and after a hard day's riding, you can relax in the campsite's eco-spa.

Costs: Prices start at £37 per night for a hobbit pod. It costs £15 a night to stable your horse and £10 for an individual paddock.

website: www.campkatur.com for the camping, and www.eieanormercerequestrian.co.uk to book your horse in.
